2. Recommend that the City Council authorize the City Manager and Clerk of the Council to execute the attached Mills Act agreement with Timothy J. and Jeanice S. Barker, subject to non-substantive changes approved by the City Manager and City Attorney (Exhibit 2).

Request of Applicant

Timothy J. and Jeanice S. Barker are requesting approval to designate an existing residence located at 1805 North Louise Street to the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties, as well as approval to execute a Mills Act agreement with the City of Santa Ana.

Project Location and Site Description

The subject property is located on the east side of North Louise Street in the West Floral Park neighborhood. The site consists of a 1,738-square-foot, Ranch House residence and detached garage on a 7,475-square-foot residential lot (Exhibit 3).

Analysis of the Issues

Historical Listing

In March 1999, the City Council approved Ordinance No. NS-2363 establishing the Historic Resources Commission and the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties. The Historic Resources Commission may, by resolution and at a noticed public hearing, designate as a historical property any building or part thereof, object, structure, or site having importance to the history or architecture of the city in accordance with the criteria set forth in Section 30-2 of the Santa Ana Municipal Code (SAMC). This project entails applying the selection criteria

HRCa No. 2020-11, HRC No. 2020-10,
HPPA No. 2020-13
October 29, 2020

established in Chapter 30 of the Santa Ana Municipal Code (Places of Historical and Architectural Significance) to determine if this structure is eligible for historic designation to the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties. The first criterion for selection requires that the structures be 50 or more years old.

The structure identified meets the minimum selection criteria for inclusion on the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties pursuant to criteria contained in Section 30-2 of the Santa Ana Municipal Code, as the property is 66 years old and is a good example of period architecture. No known code violations exist on record for this property.

The property, recognized as the Young-Keeler House, is located within the West Floral Park neighborhood boundaries and has distinctive architectural features of the Ranch House style. The residence was built in 1954 by local prominent builder Roy Roscoe Russell. In the late 1920s and 1930s, Russell continued to develop the groves of West Floral Park. In the early post World War II years, West Floral Park continued its development as numerous, smaller, single-family houses were built. Another developer and builder credited with development of parts of West Floral Park was Allison Honer, credited as the subdivider and builder of a major portion of northwest Santa Ana.

Asymmetrical in design, the house exhibits a strong horizontal emphasis expressed through a long roof ridge running parallel to the front façade, and features a moderately pitched side-gabled roof design with a single hipped extension along the front, and two front-facing gable extensions at the rear (east) elevation. The roof design exhibits wide open eaves with exposed rafters along the front (west) and rear (east) elevations and features side-gabled ends with decorative pointed eave extensions along the side (north and south) elevation. The exterior of the house is clad in a combination of brick, smooth stucco, horizontal wood board lapped siding, and board-and-batten siding. Located off-center and sheltered under the main roof, the entry is characterized by board-and-batten siding, a brick veneer base, and simple wood porch supports with triangular braces to each side. The entry features a wood door with a large window pane with crisscross pattern design, as well as wood casement windows with multiple lights. The front (west) elevation, south of the entry, is characterized by the gabled extension that features a large tripartite picture window, with the crisscross pattern design and a large central pane, as well as additional wood casement windows with multiple lights. Along the north, south, and east elevation, the building incorporates a series of wood windows, including six-over-six and horizontal pane sashes, and a tripartite with a multiple light central pane and horizontal edge panes. An exterior brick chimney located along the rear (east) elevation rises above the roof ridge line. Character-defining features of the Young-Keeler House include, but may not be limited to: materials and finishes (brick, stucco, horizontal wood board lapped siding, and board-and-batten siding); moderately pitched side-gabled roof design; wide open eaves with exposed rafters; decorative pointed eave extensions; wood porch supports with triangular braces; and fenestration (multi-pane hung, tripartite, and casement windows where extant); and architectural detailing (crisscross pattern design).

The Young-Keeler House qualifies for listing in the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties under Criterion No. 1 for embodiment of the distinguishing characteristics of the Ranch House style. It is also notable for its association with prominent Santa Ana builder and developer, Roy Russell. Additionally, the house has been categorized as "Contributive" because it "has a distinctive architectural style and quality" representing the Ranch House style in Santa Ana.

Mills Act Agreement

Ordinance No. NS-2382 authorized the Historic Resources Commission to execute Historic Property Preservation Agreements (HPPA), commonly known as Mills Act agreements for eligible properties (Exhibit 2). To be eligible for the Mills Act, the property must be listed on the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties. The Historic Resources Commission Application and Historic Register Categorization actions proposed for this site authorize the listing of the property on the local register. The agreement provides monetary incentives to the property owner in the form of a property tax reduction in exchange for the owner's voluntary commitment to maintain the property in a good state of repair as necessary to maintain its character and appearance. Once recorded, the agreement generates a different valuation method in determining the property's assessed value, resulting in tax savings for the owner. Aside from the tax savings, the benefits include:

- Long term preservation of the property and visual improvement to the neighborhood
- Allows for a mechanism to provide for property rehabilitation
- Provides additional incentive for potential buyers to purchase historic structures
- Discourages inappropriate alterations to the property

The property has no identified unauthorized modifications. Upon consideration of the application, it is recommended that the City enter into a Historic Property Preservation Agreement.

Public Notification

The subject site is located within the West Floral Park Neighborhood Association boundaries. The president of this neighborhood association was notified by mail 10 days prior to this public hearing. In addition, the project site was posted with a notice advertising this public hearing, a notice was published in the Orange County Reporter and mailed notices were sent to all property owners within 500 feet of the project site. At the time of this printing, no correspondence, either written or electronic, had been received from any members of the public.

- E. Owner and City intend to carry out the purposes of California Government Code, Chapter 1, Part 5 of Division 1 of Title 5, Article 12, Section 50280 et seq., which will enable the Historic Property to qualify for an assessment of valuation as a restricted historical property pursuant to Article 1.9, Sec. 439 et seq., Chapter 3 Part 2 of Division 1 of the California Tax and Revenue Code.

NOW, THEREFORE, the City of Santa Ana and the Owner of the Historic Property agree as follows:

1. Effective Date and Terms of Agreement.

This Agreement shall be effective and commence on November 18, 2020, and shall remain in effect for a term of ten (10) years thereafter. Each year, upon the anniversary of the effective date of this Agreement, such initial term will automatically be extended as provided in California Government Code Sections 50280 through 50290 and in Section 2, below.

b. If the Owner or the City desire(s) in any year not to renew the Agreement, the Owner or City shall serve written notice of nonrenewal of the Agreement on the other party. Unless such notice is served by the Owner to the City at least ninety (90) days prior to the annual renewal date, or served by the City to the Owner at least sixty (60) days prior to the annual renewal date, one (1) year shall automatically be added to the term of the Agreement as provided herein.

c. Within 30 days from receipt of City's notice of nonrenewal, the Owner may file a written protest of City's decision of nonrenewal. The City may, at any time prior to the annual renewal date of the Agreement, withdraw its notice to the Owner of nonrenewal.

d. If either the Owner or the City serves notice to the other of nonrenewal in any year, the Agreement shall remain in effect for the balance of the term then remaining, either from its original execution or from the last renewal of the Agreement, whichever may apply.

3. Standards and Conditions for Historic Property.

During the term of this Agreement, the Historic Property shall be subject to the following conditions, requirements and restrictions:

a. Owner shall maintain the Historic Property in a good state of repair and shall preserve, maintain, and, where necessary, restore or rehabilitate the property and its character-defining features described in the "Historical Property Description" attached hereto, marked as Exhibit B, notably the general architectural form, style, materials, design, scale, proportions, organization of windows, doors, and other openings, textures, details, mass, roof line, porch and other aspects of the appearance of the exterior to the satisfaction of the City.

b. All changes to the Historic Property shall comply with applicable City plans and regulations, and conform to the rules and regulations of the Office of Historic Preservation of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, namely the U.S. Secretary of the Interior's Standards and Guidelines for Historic Preservation Projects. These guidelines are attached hereto, marked as Exhibit C, and incorporated herein by this reference. Owner shall continually maintain the Historic Property in the same or better condition.

c. A view corridor enabling the general public to see the Historic Property from the public right-of-way shall be maintained, and Owner shall not be permitted to block the view corridor to the property with any new structure, such as walls, fences or shrubbery, so as to prevent the viewing of the historic landmark by the public.

d. The following are prohibited: demolition of the Historic Property or destruction of character-defining features of the building or site; removal of trees and other major vegetation unless removal is approved by a rehabilitation plan approved by the Historic Resources Commission; paving of yard surface; exterior alterations or additions unless approved by the Historic Resources Commission and such alterations are in keeping with the Secretary of Interior's Standards; deteriorating, dilapidated or unrepaired structures such as fences, roofs, doors, walls, and windows; storage of junk, trash, debris, discarded or unused objects such as cars, appliances, or furniture; and other unsightly by decoration, structure or vegetation which is unsightly by reason of its height, condition, or inappropriate location.

e. Owner shall allow reasonable periodic inspection by prior appointment, as needed or at least every five (5) years after the initial inspection, of the interior and exterior of the Historic Property by representatives of the City of Santa Ana, the County Assessor, the State Department of Parks and Recreation, and the State Board of Equalization, to determine the Owner's compliance with the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

4. Furnishing of Information.

The Owner hereby agrees to furnish the City with any and all information requested which may be necessary or advisable to determine compliance with the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

5. Cancellation.

a. The City, following a duly noticed public hearing by the City Council as set forth in Government Code Section 50280, et. seq., may cancel this Agreement if it determines that the Owner have breached any of the conditions of this Agreement, or has allowed the property to deteriorate to the point that it no longer meets the standards for a qualified Historic Property, or if the City determines that the Owner have failed to restore or rehabilitate the property in the manner specified in Section 3 of this Agreement. If a contract is cancelled for these reasons, the Owner shall pay a cancellation fee to the County Auditor as set forth in Government Code Section 50286. This cancellation fee shall be a percentage (currently set at twelve and one-half (12 ½) percent by Government Code Section 50286) of the current fair market value of the property at the time of the cancellation, as determined by the county assessor, without regard to any restriction imposed pursuant to this Agreement.

b. If the Historic Property is destroyed by earthquake, fire, flood or other natural disaster such that in the opinion of the City Building Official more than sixty (60) percent of the original fabric of the structure must be replaced, this Agreement shall be canceled immediately because, in effect, the historic value of the structure will have been destroyed. No fee shall be imposed in the case of destruction by acts of God or natural disaster.

c. If the Historic Property is acquired by eminent domain and the City Council determines that the acquisition frustrates the purpose of this Agreement, this Agreement shall be cancelled and no fee imposed, as specified in Government Code Section 50288.

6. Enforcement of Agreement.

a. In lieu of and/or in addition to any provisions to cancel the Agreement as referenced herein, City may specifically enforce, or enjoin the breach of, the terms of the Agreement. In the event of a default, under the provisions to cancel the Agreement by Owner, the City shall give written notice to Owner by registered or certified mail, and if such a violation is not corrected to the reasonable satisfaction of the City Manager or designee within thirty (30) days thereafter, or if not corrected within such a reasonable time as may be required to cure the breach or default, or default cannot be cured within thirty (30) days (provided that acts to cure the breach or default may be commenced within thirty (30) days and shall thereafter be diligently pursued to completion by Owner), then City may, without further notice, declare a default under the terms of this Agreement and may bring any action necessary to specifically enforce the obligations of Owner growing out of the terms of this Agreement, apply to any court, state or federal, for injunctive relief against any violation by Owner or apply for such relief as may be appropriate.

b. City does not waive any claim of default by the Owner if City does not enforce or cancel this Agreement. All other remedies at law or in equity which are not otherwise provided for in this Agreement or in City's regulations governing historic properties are available to City to pursue in the event that there is a breach of this Agreement. No waiver by City of any breach or default under this Agreement shall be deemed to be a waiver of any other subsequent breach thereof or default hereunder.

7. Binding effect of Agreement.

a. Owner hereby subjects the Historic Property, located at 1805 North Louise Street, Assessor Parcel Number, 399-081-12, and more particularly described in Exhibit A, in the City of Santa Ana, to the covenants, conditions, and restrictions as set forth in this Agreement.

b. City and Owner hereby declare their specific intent that the covenants, conditions and restrictions as set forth herein shall be deemed covenants running with the land and shall pass to and be binding upon Owner's successors and assigns in title or interest to the Historic Property. Every contract, deed, or other instrument hereinafter executed, covering or conveying the Historic Property or any portion thereof, shall conclusively be held to have been executed, delivered, and accepted subject to the tenants, restrictions, and reservations expressed in this Agreement regardless of whether such covenants, conditions and restrictions are set forth in such contract, deed, or other instrument.

8. No Compensation.

Owner shall not receive any payment from City in consideration of the obligation imposed under this Agreement, it being recognized that the consideration for the execution of this Agreement is the substantial public benefit to be derived therefrom and the advantage that will accrue to Owner as a result of the effect upon the assessed value of the Property on the account of the restrictions on the use and preservation of the Property.

9. Notice.

ARCHITECTURAL STYLE: Ranch House

Widely published in Sunset and House Beautiful magazines, the Ranch House dominated post-World War II residential expansion and represented the most popular house form in the United States from the 1950s through 1970s. The Ranch House originated in the 1930's designs of Southern California architect Cliff May, who sought to reinvent the west's vernacular housing traditions by combining the form and massing of the traditional ranch house with a modernist's concern for informality, expressed in materials and plan, and indoor-outdoor integration.

While the style includes several variants, a basic set of character-defining features applies to most examples. In form and massing, the style evokes a sprawling ranch that developed over time, with a central block extended by wings of varying roof heights. Generally L-shaped or U-shaped in plan, the Ranch House typically has a one-story profile with strong horizontal emphasis expressed through a low pitched or flat roof with wide overhanging eaves. Asymmetrical in design, the Ranch House is often sheathed in and accented with rustic materials such as board-and-batten siding, high brick foundations, art stone, and wood shake roofs. Indoor-outdoor integration is achieved through the use of recessed or extended porches, set low to the ground, and the generous use of large picture, ribbon, or corner windows. Window detailing can include wood frames, decorative shutters, and diamond-patterned muntins. Ornamentation includes rusticated elements, such as carved porch supports and exposed rafters, uneven rakes and flared eaves, and faux dove cotes and bird houses.

SUMMARY/CONCLUSION:

The Young-Keeler House qualifies for listing in the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties under Criterion 1 for embodiment of the distinguishing characteristics of the Ranch House style. It is also notable for its association with prominent Santa Ana builder and developer, Roy Russell. Additionally, the house has been categorized as "Contributive" because it "has a distinctive architectural style and quality" representing the Ranch House style in Santa Ana (Santa Ana Municipal Code, Section 30-2.2).

Located in West Floral Park, this is a one-story single-family residence on a modest sized parcel, sited with a modest setback and constructed in a Ranch House style. A detached garage is located a few feet behind (east of) the north end of the rear (east) elevation of the residence. Asymmetrical in design, the house exhibits a strong horizontal emphasis expressed through a long roof ridge running parallel to the front façade, and features a moderately pitched side-gabled roof design with a single hipped extension along the front, and two front-facing gable extensions at the rear (east) elevation. The roof design exhibits wide open eaves with exposed rafters along the front (west) and rear (east) elevation and features side-gabled ends with decorative pointed eave extensions along the side (north and south) elevation. The exterior of the house is clad in a combination of brick, smooth stucco, horizontal wood board lapped siding, and board-and-batten siding. Located off-center and sheltered under the main roof, the entry is characterized by board-and-batten siding, a brick veneer base, and simple wood porch supports with triangular braces to each side. The entry features a wood door with a large window pane with crisscross pattern design, as well as wood casement windows with multiple lights. The front (west) elevation, south of the entry, is characterized by the gabled extension that features a large tripartite picture window, with the crisscross pattern design and a large central pane, as well as additional wood casement windows with multiple lights. Along the north, south, and east elevation, the building incorporates a series of wood windows, including six-over-six and horizontal pane sashes, and a tripartite with a multiple light central pane and horizontal edge panes. An exterior brick chimney located along the rear (east) elevation rises above the roof ridge line. The property is landscaped with a lawn, low vegetation and single concrete walkway leading towards the front entry.

The Young-Keeler House is architecturally significant as a characteristic example of the Neoclassical style. This house was originally constructed in 1954, by prominent builder Roy Roscoe Russell. In the late 1920s and 1930s, Roy Russell continued developing the groves of Floral Park, including an early 1928 subdivision of Victoria Drive between West Nineteenth Street and West Santa Clara Avenue. The first residents of the property were Claude E. and Hazel Young who purchased the property soon after construction was complete. Mr. and Mrs. Young resided in the property until 1962 when it was sold to Marshall and Josephine Keeler. Mr. Keeler was a "public-spirited and progressive citizen" of Santa Ana, worked as a salesman for Smart and Final wholesale grocery company, was the Vice President of the City Board of Education, Director of Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange County, director of Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, and a member of the Santa Ana Rotary club, and held office of secretary of the Santa Ana Masonic Temple Association (Santa Ana Register, October 18, 1926). The property was sold to Robert E. and Maxine E. Elgie in 1964. Mr. Elgie was a SSGT in the US Army Air Forces and both Mr. and Mrs. Elgie are currently buried in the Riverside National Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Elgie resided on the property until 1973. No occupancy information is provided in City directories between 1973-1997. In 1998, Clifton R. Cole acquired the property.

The Young-Keeler House is located in West Floral Park, a neighborhood northwest of downtown Santa Ana bounded by West Seventeenth Street, North Bristol Street, North Flower Street, and West Riviera Drive. In 1910, father and son John B. and Merle Ramsey, who had come to Santa Ana in 1902 and subsequently set up business as plaster contractors, purchased fifteen acres of the ranch from a Mr. Talcott. By that time, the adobe had been replaced by the present house, estimated to have been built circa 1895 (Cultural Heritage Inventory, 1983). A barn with an attached bunkhouse was located west of the house (approximately where Westwood Avenue runs today). The Ramsey's began tending the orange and walnut trees already on half of the acreage, and planted additional walnut trees and apricot trees on the vacant land. They also developed the "Ramsey Apple" by grafting cuttings from their home in Ohio onto California rootstock.

*At the time of the Ramsey's purchase, the ranch, although located within the city limits of Santa Ana, was "far out in the country," reached via dirt roads, with no nearby neighbors. The location of the property was understood to be the vicinity of Baker and Seventeenth. In 1921, father and son divided the property, with the father keeping the rear portion for farming and son taking the front in order to take advantage of the expanding residential area of Santa Ana by building houses. City directories in the 1930s list the address of John Ramsey as 1901 North Baker Street and of Merle Ramsey as 1101 West Seventeenth Street. Westwood Avenue north of Seventeenth, however, was not developed until the post-World War II period, and the first building permit with the current address was recorded in 1948. Merle Ramsey recalled his life on the A. T. Bates ranch in This Was Mission County: Reflections in Orange of Merle and Mabel Ramsey, published in 1973, and noted that the house remained exactly where it had been, only surrounded by streets and houses. Ramsey also recalled unearthing several Native American artifacts on the property, most notably two stone pots discovered when they installed an irrigation system.*

Since the second half of the twentieth century, the neighborhood in which the A. T. Bates Ranch House is located has been known as West Floral Park. Bounded by Santiago Creek on the north, West Seventeenth Street on the south, North Flower Street on the east and North Bristol Street on the west, this residential area largely developed after 1947. Prior to that time, the area was primarily agricultural, and other than Flower Street, which was improved with houses during the 1920s and 1930s, contained only a handful of residences on Baker and Bristol Streets, the City Water Works pumping plant at 2315 North Bristol Street, and the Animal Shelter and City/County Pound at 2321 North Bristol Street. Between 1947 and 1950, around two dozen homes were constructed on Baker, Olive, Towner, and Westwood Streets. Construction boomed during the 1950s, and the California Ranch.

The Young-Keeler House qualifies for listing in the Santa Ana Register of Historical Properties under Criterion 1 for embodiment of the distinguishing characteristics of the Ranch House style. It is also notable for its association with prominent Santa Ana builder and developer, Roy Russell. Additionally, the house has been categorized as "Contributive" because it "has a distinctive architectural style and quality" representing the Ranch House style in Santa Ana (Santa Ana Municipal Code, Section 30-2.2). Character-defining features of the Young-Keeler House include, but may not be limited to: materials and finishes (brick, stucco, horizontal wood board lapped siding, and board-and-batten siding); moderately pitched side-gabled roof design; wide open eaves with exposed rafters; decorative pointed eave extensions; wood porch supports with triangular braces; and fenestration (multi-pane hung, tripartite, and casement windows where extant); and architectural detailing (crisscross pattern design).

Exhibit C

Exterior work shall be reviewed by the Historic Resources Commission and subject to the U.S. Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation of Historic Buildings, as follows:

1. Every reasonable effort shall be made to provide a compatible use for a property which requires minimal alteration of the building, structure, or site and its environment, or to use a property for its originally intended purpose.
2. The distinguishing original qualities or character of a building, structure or site and its environment shall not be destroyed. The removal or alteration of any historic material or distinctive architectural features should be avoided when possible.
3. All buildings, structures, and sites shall be recognized as products of their own time. Alterations that have no historical basis and which seek to create an earlier appearance shall be discouraged.
4. Changes which may have taken place in the course of time are evidence of the history and development of a building, structure, or site and its environment. These changes may have acquired significance in their own right, and this significance shall be recognized and respected.
5. Distinctive stylistic features or examples of skilled craftsmanship which characterize a building, structure, or site shall be treated with sensitivity.
6. Deteriorated architectural features shall be repaired rather than replaced, whenever possible. In the event replacement is necessary, the new material should match the material being replaced in composition, design, color, texture, and other visual qualities. Repair or replacement of missing architectural features should be based on accurate duplications of features, substantiated by historic, physical, or pictorial evidence rather than on conjectural designs or the availability of different architectural elements from the other buildings or structures.
7. The surface cleaning of structures shall be undertaken with the gentlest means possible. Sandblasting and other cleaning methods that will damage the historic building materials shall not be undertaken.
8. Every reasonable effort shall be made to protect and reserve archaeological resources affected by, or adjacent to any project.
9. Contemporary design for alterations and additions to existing properties shall not be discouraged when such alterations and additions do not destroy significant historical, architectural or cultural material, and such design is compatible with size, scale, color, material and character of the property, neighborhood, or environment.

10. Wherever possible, new additions or alterations to structures shall be done in such a manner that if such additions or alterations need to be removed in the future, the essential form and integrity of the structure would be unimpaired.
